The Alumni President's Message

Dr. J. R. Watkins

Dear Alumni:

Another year has passed and again we are looking forward to another Commencement. Various classes are working on reunion plans. We honor the Fifty-Year Class, the Forty-Year Class (1912), the Twenty-Five Year Class (1927), and the Ten-Year Class (1942). All Alumni regardless of class are welcomed and urged to pay a visit to Dear Old Maryville. Maybe you have not returned since graduation. You owe it to your Alma Mater, as well as yourself, to return. Alumni Day is Saturday, May 17 and Commencement is Wednesday, May 21.

Let me urge you as your President of the Alumni Association to attend either Alumni Day or Commencement Day exercises, even if you cannot stay for the entire program. Let us be loyal and show our true colors by turning out once again.

Yours Truly

NEXT STEPS: NEW STUDENTS AND THE NEW CHAPEL

The College Year Ends in May. Commencement Day is May 21. By the middle of that afternoon students will be on their way literally to the four corners of the nation, many of them with parents and friends who will have been on campus for a varying number of days. Offices, like classrooms and dormitories, will be deserted to enable the administrative staff to catch its collective breath. But next day the offices will be busy again, tabulating grades, rounding up the year's financial affairs, planning the annual summer renovations and repairs, corresponding with next year's students, and a hundred other things. Then ten days later, on May 31, the fiscal year closes, and the accountings must be made. Yes, May is a month of endings and stock takings.

The Next Academic Year Opens September 2. We open earlier than most colleges. We do it in order to complete a semester before Christmas. This was tried first as an experiment a few years ago and everybody has liked it so well that we continue the plan in spite of necessities of starting early and of having a first semester means that examinations are over before starting home for Christmas, it means a long Christmas vacation (it is some shorter than the second. But to students it was 25 days this year and will be 25 next year), and it means closing early enough to have first chances at summer jobs. New students report September 2, 1952, and old students a day or two later.

Alumni Serve in Guiding Qualified Students to Maryville. The best representatives of any college are its alumni. You who are Maryville College alumni have been the principal recruiters of our students. We hope you will continue to be so, because you know the College and the young people with whom you talk. We on the campus cannot possibly interview applicants from the wide area of our constituency. And one reason I call attention to this is that we need your help in a special way at this time. Before and for two years after World War II we found it necessary to turn applicants, especially girls, away for lack of room. But that was not the case this year, and so far applications for next year are behind schedule. This year's graduating class is large, but the freshman class is small. It is important that we not have two small entering classes in succession. Our standards are still among the highest and our charges among the lowest — perhaps the lowest among standard non-taxsubsidized colleges. Won't you be a representative of the College to high school seniors who have the academic foundation and the general qualities to meet Maryville College standards?

The New Chapel is in Sight. I am writing this on March 24, 1952. The chapel fire was on March 26, 1947. Day after tomorrow will be the fifth anniversary. We have talked and planned and campaigned and prayed for a new chapel all these five years. We did not expect to wait so long. But in that time there has come into being, in the providence of God, the magnificent half-million dollar Fine Arts Center to rebuild and vastly extend the facilities for Music, which had been for forty years in Voorhees Chapel, and those for Art which had been in various parts of the campus. It became clear to those of us working on the matter that the long range needs of the College call also for modern provision for drama and speech as well as for the central Chapel auditorium. How to achieve this in one plan and for the funds reasonably to be expected has been a tough question. But we were sure that a few years of inconvenience would be less serious than a shortsighted program.

We believe we are now in sight of a plan which will meet the long range need. On another page is a description of the plan which I have written. This also will be a half-million dollar building, or assembly of buildings. If we are successful in securing another $100,000 and in going through with the whole plan, the result will be a Fine Arts Center and a Chapel-Theater building representing an investment of nearly one million dollars. Each of the two buildings will have more than twice as much floor space as was in all floors of Voorhees Chapel. Thus we will have in place of the Chapel we lost nearly five times as much space planned and constructed for specific purposes in line with the best knowledge of the day.

Two firms of architects have been engaged — Schweikher and Elting, of Chicago, who designed the Fine Arts Center, and Barber and McMurry, of Knoxville. It is hoped that we will be ready to take bids on construction by the end of the summer. At the same time, all know that there are too many things happening every week in Asia, Europe, Washington, and Pittsburgh to permit very definite predictions. But the Fine Arts Center is here and the Chapel is in sight.

Cordially yours,

WIDE NOTICE GIVEN FINE ARTS CENTER

The December, 1951, issue of Architectural Record (119 W. 40th St., New York), a national publication for architects, carried a striking feature on our Fine Arts Center.

While the building was under construction by Johnson and Willard, Knoxville contractors, the same journal published a preliminary description and some pictures. After completion, the Senior Associate Editor, Frank G. Lopez, spent two or three days at the College examining the building and talking with faculty and students about its use. At the conclusion of his visit he expressed to President Lloyd his estimate that this was one of the most significant of recent buildings erected on American campuses, and announced the desire of Architectural Record to run a feature article with pictures. The College, the architects, Schweikher and Elting, and the donors, Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Lloyd, agreed to the plan.

A well known photographer who is a specialist in such pictures, Joseph W. Molitor, of New York, made two visits to Maryville for pictures. Of these, almost thirty were used with the twelve-page article printed as the first feature in the 286-page December issue of Architectural Record. Eight of them are in color, a full page cut on the front cover. The article describes the College, and the structure, uses, and philosophy of the building.

Some of the statements from the articles are the following: "It is hard to decide, in telling the story of the new Fine Arts Building at Maryville College, whether to concentrate on its complete integrity, on its close approach to functional perfection, or on the romantic revolution it has precipitated on a campus which is extremely pleasant but not otherwise too distinguished architecturally."

"Maryville's Fine Arts Building provides spaces which function exactly as they were intended to, spaces clothed wholesomely and naturally by materials whose solidity or transparency at the point of use seems entirely appropriate. These qualities of honesty and fitness have vastly stimulated the entire college."

"The College's music courses have a high reputation."

In the earlier article about the building, published by Architectural Record, (June 1950), was this statement: "Maryville's other buildings are Georgian in derivation, built from the 1850's on; red brick is the only conscious tie between these and the new Center. The courage to build in architectural tune with the times, say the architects, '... is the College's and the donor's.'"

All of this has brought many evidences of a nation-wide interest among architects and music leaders.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Many of the activities on the campus are familiar to alumni, but one was new this year and that was a faculty play. Just before the end of the first semester the faculty presented "Arsenic and Old Lace." Their efforts were hilariously appreciated, and the money made was given to the library for the purchase of books and periodicals.

Other campus events are numerous and varied. They include the Opera Workshop, which in March gave "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County"; Open House in all the dormitories; "The Pirates of Penzance" by the All Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club; a style show by the home economics classes; orchestra concert and senior music recitals; the Spring Formal; Experimental Theatre productions; a lecture and demonstration of pottery making (the art department has a kiln); freshman talent show; skit night by the four Societies; tennis and baseball; intramural tournaments; May Day; the Easter Sunrise Service. The debate squad has had no debates on the campus but has participated in the Tennessee State Forensics Tournament, Nashville, the South Atlantic Forensics Tournament in Hickory, North Carolina, and the Pi Kappa Delta Provincial Tournament in Columbus, Mississippi. The Artists Series have been very successful this year. The fall concert was by Nelson and Neal, duo-pianists, and in January William Warfield, baritone, gave a very excellent concert. He is becoming an internationally known concert singer and is also winning wide recognition in the movies. He and his accompanist spent the entire day on the campus, meeting with the voice majors and others.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY

For the third year the College and the Blount County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a High School Day on the college campus. It will be on May 2 and all high school seniors in the County are invited. A committee representing the College, the Chamber of Commerce, and the high schools is planning the program. In the morning there will be group meetings on various vocational fields. A picnic luncheon will be served on the athletic field and at three the seniors will be guests of the College at a baseball game. Between luncheon and the game there will be guided tours of all the college buildings and facilities.

FACULTY NEWS

W. Curtis Hughes, Instructor in Music, is on Sabbatical. Leave this semester to do graduate work at Northwestern University, where he has been studying for the past two summers. He is specializing in organ. In addition to his academic work he is singing in one of the choirs of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

Claudia Wofford Carter (Mrs. J. Wendel Carter), of Maryville, is teaching organ during Mr. Hughes' absence. She took her early musical training at Maryville under Miss Hale and has recently studied organ at Juilliard School of Music and church music at Union Theological Seminary, New York.

Mrs. Blair (Bernice Cathcart, '40), who has been teaching voice, resigned at the end of the first semester to join her husband, Marion Blair, '38, in Chamblee, Georgia, where he is teaching.

Edrie P. Sellick, of Stratford, Connecticut, was appointed to the music faculty this semester to handle students in voice and during Mr. Hughes' absence to direct the all-girl choir and men's glee club. She is a graduate of Eastman School of Music and holds a Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York.

Mary Evelyn Brown Smith (Mrs. R. O. Smith, Jr.), of Maryville, was appointed to the home economics faculty this semester to teach clothing and textiles. She is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. Mr. Smith, ex '50, is a helicopter pilot and is in Korea.

Mrs. Pieper, Instructor in Sociology, received her M.A. from the University of Tennessee on March 20, 1952.

Miss Craven, Assistant Professor of Drama, had a major operation in February but went back to her teaching about the middle of March. Because of her illness it was decided not to give "Macbeth" in March as scheduled but to give it twice during Commencement Week.

Dr. Orr is listed in "Who Knows — And What" as an expert on the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

The annual meeting of the Tennessee Philological Association was held at Carson-Newman College at the end of February. Two Maryville faculty members read papers: Dr. Hunter on "Variations on a Theme in Longfellow," and Mr. Cooper on "A Basis for Phonetic Change."

Kenneth Paxton, who is on military leave, is now stationed in Norfolk, Virginia. Mrs. Paxton (Charlotte Proffitt, '47) and the two children have gone there to live.

Dr. Ralph Collins, Associate Professor of German and French from 1935 to 1945, now with the State Department, is back in Germany. He and Mrs. Collins and their four children are in Regensburg, which is about sixty miles north of Munich.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Baseball and tennis practice have started. The first baseball game of a 17-game schedule will be played March 29 against Hiwassee, and the first of 12 scheduled tennis matches the same day against the University of Tennessee, both at home. Coach Honaker handles basketball and baseball, and Kenneth Johnson, Assistant Professor of Physical Education, coaches tennis.

The basketball team won twelve games and lost ten. It was definitely a home team as it won ten out of twelve home games, thus making it a very good season on the campus. Two Maryville basketball records were set: the team scored 1,584 points in twenty-two games, an average of 72 points per game; and "Mino" Shields, playing his last season, broke Bob Boring's modern record of 333 points for one season by scoring 478 points, an average of 21.3 points per game.

The wrestling team had a fair season, winning four and losing six matches. At the Southeastern N.C.A.A. tournament in Atlanta, Maryville finished fourth behind Auburn, Emory, and Chattanooga; Bill Morse took the championship in the 123 pound class. "J. D." Davis continues to coach wrestling.

In football, Maryville seems to be, at the present, a victim of the law of averages. During the two years following World War II (1946 and 1947) our team lost only one game. During the two years just now past (1950 and 1951) the tables of the won and lost columns have been reversed although the team has in fact been a good one. During the two intermediate years we won half our games each year. Probably a fair distribution of victories among colleges would be such a fifty-fifty result, but each college has the human preference of being in the minority which wins more than it loses.

The cross country team made a good record in the fall, with three wins, one tie, and three losses against strong competition. Two of the losses were to the University of Tennessee and the tie was with Georgia Tech. We won from Seawane, William Jennings Bryan University (to whom we also lost one) and in a three-way meet from both the University of Louisville and Seawane (the latter for the second time). The coach is Kenneth Johnson.

MISS MILES STUDENT-HELP SECRETARY

At the end of the college year of 1949-1950, Miss Clemmie J. Henry, for health reasons asked to be relieved of the responsibilities of the Student-Help program which she had directed for thirty-two years. Her request was granted with regret by the College and she was appointed to part-time responsibility as Special Assistant to the President.

No successor was appointed at once. Miss Massey, Dean of Women, was asked to direct the student employment and scholarship program; and to Mrs. Chamberlain, Assistant in the Student-Help office, and others were assigned duties in connection with student loans.

President Lloyd has now announced the appointment of Miss Mary Miles as Student-Help Secretary (the title which Miss Henry had for many years). Miss Miles has been Assistant in the Library since 1948, and will enter upon her new duties June first.

Miss Miles received the B.A. degree from Maryville College in 1918. She taught in Tennessee for two years, was during a considerable portion of two years a student in Biblical Seminary in New York, and in 1922 went to Japan as a missionary. For eighteen years she taught Bible and Music in Hokuriku Girls' School, Kanazawa, Japan. Forced home by the war, she has remained in America although she has a keen interest in Japan and has hoped to return there some day. She accepted the position in the College Library on a temporary basis. Her acceptance of the Student-Help Secretaryship has involved a difficult decision on her part.

Her father was Rev. Dr. Thomas Judson Miles, who died in 1948, a graduate of the College in the Class of 1893, and a Director of the College for forty-one years.

ALUMNI CLUBS

The National Capital Maryville College Club met November 16 for a dinner meeting at the YWCA on K Street. The following new officers were elected: chairman, William C. Crow, '24; vice chairman, Zula I. Vance, '39; second vice chairman (for Baltimore area), Clifford T. Morgan, '36; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Herbert P. Dunning (Helen Gamble, '20), 303 East Melbourne Avenue, Silver Springs, Maryland. After the business meeting colored slides of the campus were shown and also a twelve-minute sound movie of the Smoky Mountains furnished by the Knoxville Tourist Bureau.

The Metropolitan Club met for dinner at the YMCA on 23rd Street, New York, on January 10. It was held at a time when President Lloyd was to be in the East and so could attend and give in person a report on affairs at the College. Christmas vacation did not end this year until January 16, so students now in college from the New York area were invited and ten attended. New officers were elected. Rev. James M. Barr, '43, Cutchogue Presbyterian Church, Cutchogue, Long Island, New York, was elected chairman to succeed Robert E. Seel, '45.

The Middle Tennessee Club held a meeting on October 22 when President Lloyd was in Nashville for speaking engagements. Rev. William Vogel, '48, was elected chairman and Dr. John A. Hyden, '14, and Miss Mabel I. Baker, '23, were re-elected vice chairman and secretary-treasurer respectively. On March 11, the Club had its spring meeting at Westminster House, Nashville. Mrs. Paul Moehlman (Marjorie L. Stokesberry, ex '46), 1106 19th Avenue South, Nashville, was elected secretary-treasurer in place of Miss Baker, who resigned. The forthcoming concert by the Maryville A Cappella Choir, to be given April 24 at the Hillsboro Presbyterian Church, is being sponsored jointly by the alumni club and the Men's Club of the Hillsboro Church. Edward A. Voorhees, '47, is chairman of the concert committee. Following the business meeting colored slides of the campus and college activities were shown and refreshments served.

THE 1952 COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

In addition to the general interest which all former Maryville College students have in the events of Commencement week, and the particular interest which some each year have in sons and daughters and others who are in the graduating class, all who can return have a special interest in Alumni Day.

This year that is Saturday, May 17. The annual Alumni Dinner will be at seven that evening. All graduates, former students, seniors, and friends are invited. Tickets may be secured from the Alumni Office in Anderson or at the Registration Table on the campus. The Executive Committee of the Alumni Association is planning the meeting. The President of the Association elected last May, Dr. Joseph Roscoe Watkins, '23, will preside.

Classes which are planning reunions schedule gatherings as they prefer during Alumni Day or on other days. Word has been received at the College that the Forty Year Class (1912), the Twenty-Five Year Class (1927), and the Ten Year Class (1942), are making plans. These and others should keep in touch with Mrs. J. W. Horne, Alumni Office, Maryville College. There are three living members of the Fifty-Year Class but it is not yet known whether any can be present.

Please note the detailed program on the inside cover of this Bulletin. All are invited to any or all events. The Baccalaureate Service on Sunday morning, May 18, and the Commencement Exercises on the morning of May 21 are the traditional all-college events. There are 156 candidates for graduation in the Class of 1952.

THE NEW ORGAN

In the late fall the pipe organ which had been under construction at the factory for more than a year was installed. An introductory recital was given on December 16. It is a remarkable instrument and in its combination of appearance, tone, and range has no counterpart in this section of the United States. It fits the Fine Arts Center exactly. It is a gift of the donors of the building.

The new organ, designed and constructed by Walter Holtkamp of Cleveland, Ohio, represents the influence of the principles of tonal and architectural design characteristic of the great European instruments of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. However, the specifications make possible the playing of organ literature of all periods and styles. Careful selection of acoustically balanced registers, low wind pressures, special voicing, and exposed placement of the pipes were among the important features considered in its construction. It is essentially a teaching, recital, and concert organ.

ALUMNI SURVEY

The Presbyterian Board of Christian Education is this year making a special survey of all the colleges under its sponsorship. One of the points it wished to explore was the opinion of the alumni concerning their college preparation, and so a questionnaire was formulated which we were requested to mail to a cross section of our graduates.

Answers were received from 132 persons in time to be tabulated at the first of March. The results may be of interest, especially to those who took the time to fill in and return the questionnaire. The College appreciates very much their doing this.

Returns came from 71 men and 61 women in thirty States, one territory, and one foreign country, representing classes from 1896 to 1951. Of these, 105 took their full college course at Maryville; 16 had three years here and 11 two years. Present occupations include education - 39; ministry - 29; business - 17; housewives - 30; physicians - 3; nurses - 3; YMCA - 3; church work - 3; dentist - 1; farmer - 1; Girl Scout executive - 1.

The questionnaire asked, "In what ways do you think your college education prepared you for this work?" Aside from obvious and specific preparation for such professions as medicine, education, ministry, which require a college degree, the most frequently mentioned way of preparation was in providing a general background of knowledge and culture; next was "people" - learning to get along with others, to work with them, to understand their problems and needs; Christian atmosphere was frequently mentioned; development of critical and independent thinking ("untying apron strings"); example of the faculty; development of character and personality ("learning to do things I didn't especially want to do").

Twenty-five are not married, 107 are. The number of children ranges from none to five, except one who has eleven children. In answer to the question of ways in which college prepared for family life, most frequently mentioned were learning ideals of a Christian home, wider understanding, learning to cooperate with others (particularly through dormitory life), growth in maturity and stability. One man put it, "I hope it developed me into being a more intelligent and agreeable companion." Some said they met their wives or husbands at college. Specific courses listed as valuable included sociology, psychology, home economics, and ethics. Eight persons said they received no preparation or very little.

Two men and two women said they are not members of any church; 87 are Presbyterians, 20 Methodists, 11 Baptists. Of the 128 members, only nine say they do not attend regularly. Of those who attend regularly, only two men said they had not at any time held any offices or responsibilities. Again the question was asked of ways in which college prepared for church participation. New ways not mentioned in answers to occupational and marriage preparation and specific ways included most frequently, as might be expected, Bible study. Next was participation in religious groups and activities on the campus, the interest in church activities fostered by the College, the February Meetings, church and chapel attendance. Four people thought their college course had given them no preparation at all — two of them men who blamed their non-church participation on “too much church activity fostered in college.”

Participation in civic affairs was widespread, 102 reporting in some activity, ranging from memberships in one club to the woman who was serving on 33 community committees at one time. Almost every form of community activity was represented. Heading the list of ways of preparation was the development of a sense of responsibility and of service to others. Participation in extra-curricular activities, especially student government, was next. Training in leadership ranked high; eleven people specifically mentioned Systematic Discourse.

One man summed the whole thing up thus: “General education, with a distribution of required subjects, and appreciation of the values of life, the sacrifices that others have made to secure them, and the obligation to preserve them were, I believe, the features of my study at Maryville that prepared me most for church, civic, and community life. In my opinion such instruction is best furnished by the small privately endowed liberal arts colleges, such as Maryville College.”

FEBRUARY MEETINGS

The 1952 February Meetings were up to the high Maryville standard and brought great benefit to the campus. Dr. George E. Sweazey, of New York, proved to be a preacher and leader of power and attractiveness. In sixteen sermons, a half dozen forums, and a crowded schedule of personal interviews he was very effective in making Christ and His claims and purposes real and compelling.

Rev. John Magill, '39, now pastor of the Abington Presbyterian Church in the suburbs of Philadelphia, Pa., led the singing in a most acceptable manner. Rev. Sidney E. Stringham, who had rendered this service for many years, was unable to come this year. Mr. Magill was accompanied to Maryville by his wife, Louise Wells Magill, '41, and their two children.

DESIGN OF THE NEW CHAPEL

While the final design of the new chapel building is not yet settled, a description of the plan now being seriously considered will be of interest to many who read these pages. By the time this page is in print and in the hands of readers, the plan may be altered. In any case, it is hoped it will be settled, either along the following lines or some other.

The aim is to construct a building which will house the complicated assembly of Chapel, Theater, Little Chapel, and a considerable number of classrooms, rehearsal rooms, and work rooms on simple and logical lines, with every square foot in use, at a price only a little above what most auditoriums alone cost.

The most impressive solution of this difficult problem so far developed calls for an overall rectangular building almost the length and two thirds the width of a football field.

One end contains a chapel auditorium seating 1,200. The other end contains a theater seating 450, with a standard theater stage and a stage house sixty feet high. Between these two units and providing entrance to them is a center open court approximately 45 feet square. Tying the two auditorium units together is a long, two story unit running the whole length of the structure and containing a little devotional chapel, seating 100; college chaplain's offices; speech and drama classrooms, laboratory, and practice rooms; theater dressing rooms, costume rooms, and workshop; and choir rehearsal and dressing rooms.

Such a cataloging of the parts of the structure cannot give any adequate conception of the real character of the building. If we succeed in providing all of the essentials listed for a half million dollars, it will be a remarkable achievement in these days. At the moment we are encouraged to believe it is possible.

The building will be contemporary in design; will be constructed of brick, concrete, glass, steel, and aluminum (we hope); and will be located across the site of the old Chapel—one end of the rectangle being southwest toward Carnegie and the other end northeast toward the Fine Arts Center, with the open court at about the center of the old Chapel.

We will send more news when it is made.

HOMECOMING

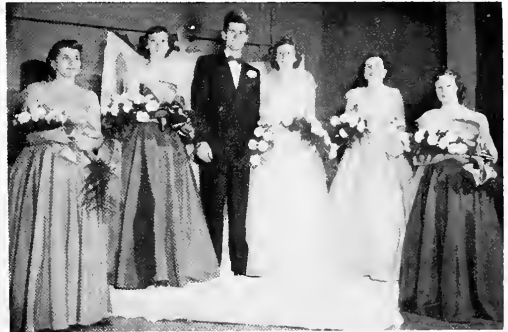

About 450 people attended Homecoming last fall, and although the game was about rained out the Barbecue was held as planned.

It started to sprinkle while the food was being served so that the Alumni Gym was opened and those who wished to, ate inside. By game time, however, the rain was coming down as all Maryvillians will remember it can in East Tennessee. A few people stayed throughout the game; the only change in the weather, they reported, was that occasionally instead of pouring it rained harder.

The 1952 Founders Day and Homecoming will be on Saturday, November 1. The date is set each year to coincide with the annual meeting of the East Tennessee Education Association, when teachers in this area gather in Knoxville for meetings Thursday and Friday and so can easily come to Maryville on Saturday.
